

A parenting tip to bring more happiness to your kids #garyvee #shorts

If you see that you have a curious kid you need to become a cheerleader of that If they want to cook one weekend let's go If they want to rock climb let's go If they want to pick up a guitar Cool If they're asking you about the Japanese whiskey you're drinking Not yet kid but let me tell you about it You know like I do think curiosity has a real play in happiness and I've been thinking about it a lot If you think about how parents predominantly parent a kid they try to scare them out of doing things It's very like don't do that You're going to you know fear all of us all of us don't do that That's right All of us and listen I get it You love them more than breathing It's the ultimate love I do think though that parents have to catch themselves because these kids are getting fed Fear everywhere Attention is the number one asset
