

Motivate yourself with love not fear #garyvee #shorts

Love and compassion is a forever game Love yourself is a default that everybody should work on every minute It should be non negotiable And then as far as motivating yourself look you're not going to work harder because you're saying you're a piece of shit If you're sitting there I suck you're not going to I promise you fear and negativity is a short term motivator Love and compassion is a forever game